

Trinergy Attends DILA 2007

September 19, 2007
Denver, CO

Trinergy booth at this year's
DILA Conference

It was that time of year again for the members of the Denominational Investment Loan Association (DILA) to meet and work together across denominational lines; to share ideas and resources. For years representatives of Trinergy, LLC have been travelling to the DILA convention in order to meet and learn from professionals in the church extension fund industry. We are grateful to continue the tradition of supporting this event by displaying a booth at the 2007 meeting in Denver, Colorado.

This year was special for Trinergy as we announced our recent merger with R.C. Olmstead, Inc., a predominant data processor based out of Columbus, OH. This merger solidifies Trinergy as the benchmark software provider for church extension funds nationwide. Throughout the week, interest in the Trinergy product was overwhelming, and we thank all that came by our booth to learn more. As a result of the event we were blessed to begin mutually beneficial relationships with many funds!

The DILA conference has always been a wonderful event for Trinergy, and we look forward to attending next year's meeting.